

Art and Design

Whether it's the soothing spa environment clients find at the office or the advanced technology and procedures, art and design are part of everything Dr. Lairy Miller does at First Impressions Dentistry. "Cosmetic dentistry allows our artistic ability to transform a patient's smile and, in turn, improve his or her self-esteem and overall appearance," Dr. Miller says.

Dr. Miller attends many hours of continuing education, allowing him to offer the latest advancements in dental procedures ranging from teeth whitening to porcelain veneers. For example, First Impressions Dentistry uses computer imaging and in-office wax models to give patients a preview of what's to come. "Showing and giving them their potential new smile makes all the difference," Dr. Miller says.

It's clear patients are happy with what they are seeing. "Something is going very right when every patient brings their own referrals back to our practice. There is no greater compliment to our exemplary service."

What is your favorite part of what you do?

Most people dislike coming to the dentist. I have great satisfaction in turning my patients attitudes around. It brings great pleasure to my job and my staff when a patient laughs, shares their life with us, compliments our treatment, and leaves the office knowing they have received the best dental care and a great new smile.

What are your most important beauty tips?

First impressions count! If you present yourself with a healthy white smile people will know you are concerned about your health and appearance. Maintain your hygiene appointments, refresh your smile with periodic tooth whitening, complete orthodontia treatment, and ask your dentist for cosmetic restorations through bonding and porcelain veneers. A smile is the first thing your acquaintances will remember!
